

yan

There was a time

There was a time I wished for sunshine
There was a time I wished for snow
No matter how I tried to plan ahead, it never worked.
Cause life has always, always a surprise in store for me.

There was a time the future scared me
There was a time it seemed so grim
Like I would not be able to walk down the street with him.
Like nobody could ever understand the song within.

Remember this, on your mark
The world is not only light and dark
And the chase may not end in a win.
Remember this, on your mark
The world is not only light and dark
And the chase may not end in a win.

There was a time I wished for freedom
There was a time I wished for you
But time has passed, and I've discovered better things to do
I've learned to laugh and found myself a world I never knew.

Remember this, on your mark
The world is not only light and dark
And the chase may not end in a win.
And if you want to survive
You need to learn how to be alive
Every choice that you make is a gift

Never mind if you still cannot feel it
Feelings never remain as they are
Keep your eyes on the road, autopilot's off
And you'll go very far

There was a time I wished for sunshine
There was a time I wished for snow
Snow...

Remember this, on your mark
The world is not only light and dark
And the chase may not end in a win.
And if you want to survive
You need to learn how to be alive
Every choice that you make is a gift
Every choice that you make is a gift.

