

you

He is Watching

I've never been the fearless, the kind of guy that knows the way always second guessing, and yet I live another day Caught between the margins, so much unsaid forever
I cannot see you, but somehow I know you are there Worlds apart in life, but I still remind myself

He is watching

He knows what you're about now

There'll never be a mortal that stands in your way

He is watching

And now he understands you

And now there is no reason to hide from yourself

I'm good at keeping secrets, I could have lived a bitter lie Walk around pretending that I'm not letting life go by All the time I wasted, so much unsaid forever
I cannot hear you, but somehow I know you agree Worlds apart in life, but in death you're here with me.

He is watching

He knows what you're about now

There'll never be a mortal that stands in your way

He is watching

And now he understands you

And now there is no reason to hide from yourself

Now that you've seen, you know how I feel

But for me the story's forever still.